Objectives

1. Articulate which nutrients are beneficial for reducing symptoms of anxiety, anger and depression.
2. Assess clients' potential nutritional deficiencies that could be negatively affecting their mental health.
3. Communicate the potential complications of combining nutritional supplements and psychotropic medications as related to clinical treatment.
4. Analyze the impact of fats and proteins on clients' mental and physical health.
5. Determine when and how to refer clients to Complementary and Alternative Medicine providers.
6. Incorporate complementary strategies to help improve your client's energy and mental clarity.
7. Identify physiological causes of fatigue, depression, and anxiety to improve treatment outcomes.
8. Differentiate between mental illness versus nutritional and hormonal imbalances as it relates to clinical practice.
9. Distinguish symptoms of nutritional deficiencies to inform the clinician's choice of treatment interventions.
10. Integrate holistic assessment and treatment interventions to improve client level of functioning.
11. Assess diet, exercise, and sleep in session without shaming a client.
12. Evaluate how improved nutrition can improve therapeutic outcomes for clients with ADHD, anxiety, depression, addictions, and other mental health disorders.

Speaker

Kristen Allott, ND, LAc, is a high energy and enthusiastic speaker who is passionate about integrative medicine. As a licensed naturopathic physician and acupuncturist, she has a private practice where she specializes in working with the clients of mental health professionals and is passionate about achievable results. Dr. Allott has developed a reputation for assisting clients in making simple changes in their food choices and for addressing nutritional deficiencies that contribute to the symptoms of anxiety, depression, addictions and other mental health disorders. Dr. Allott regularly presents at psychiatric nurse practitioner conventions on non-pharmaceutical interventions for mental health. Additionally, she consults with Court Improvement Training Academy (CITA) at the University of Washington to develop the Protein for All Project to optimize the brains in the high stakes environment of Juvenile and Family Court System in the State of Washington.

Dr. Allott has worked as a residential counselor for adolescents in mental health crises and advocated for the educational rights for individuals with learning disabilities. She is on the academic faculty at Bastyr University and serves as a guest lecturer for a variety of groups. As a physician and acupuncturist, she enjoys studying how daily life affects the biochemistry, physiology, and qi (energy) of the body. As a black belt in Aikido, she has studied the intimate connections between the mind, emotions and body.

Speaker Disclosures:

Financial: Kristen Allott is in private practice. She receives a speaking honorarium from PESI, Inc.
Non-financial: Kristen Allott references the off-label use of Nordic Naturals and Carlson's during her presentation.

The Happiness Toolbox 56 Practices to Find Happiness, Purpose & Productivity in Love, Work and Life

By Jonah Paquette, Psy.D.

So many books, websites, apps, and podcasts claim they contain the secrets to finding happiness. But rarely are they backed by research or real tools - instead just anecdotal fairy tales that work for a select few.

The Happiness Toolbox is here to help, by providing you with science-backed exercises to change your life. An interactive journaling format helps you learn how to choose happiness by adding simple habits into your daily life - putting you in a long-lasting and fulfilling state of mind.
