Release Shame and Cultivate Healthy Attachment in Clients with Anxiety, Trauma, Depression and Relational Difficulties

“Who could ever love you?”
“I knew you’d fail.”

Debilitating and complex, shame is among the most destructive of human emotions. Depression, violence, anxiety – it emerges in a variety of ways that are profoundly damaging to your clients’ lives and the lives of those around them.

Working with clients experiencing unhealthy shame presents you with a formidable therapeutic challenge. How do you effectively manage something that hides in the shadows... that by its very nature is so excruciating that it pushes people toward avoidance? How do you heal something that lurks behind masks of anger and defensiveness? How do you break through to suffering individuals who’ve spent a lifetime viewing themselves as wrong, unlovable, and unworthy of getting better?

Stop letting shame derail the therapeutic process and transform how you work with shame-driven clients!

Attend this seminar and help your clients end avoidance, face their shame, and rewrite their story of dysfunctional self-worth and condemnation into one of compassionate acceptance.

Key Benefits of Attending:

- Teach clients to manage shame without resorting to destructive measures.
- Reduce judgmental thoughts and reactivity with mindfulness.
- Cultivate secure self-attachment with somatic approaches.
- Discover how shame complicates trauma treatment and how addressing shame can help you expedite recovery.
- Build resiliency to shame with interventions based on empathy, forgiveness and compassion.

SPEAKER

Patti Ashley, Ph.D., L.P.C., is an international workshop presenter, author, and psychotherapist, who owns and operates Authenticity Architecture in Boulder, Colorado. She has developed a unique approach to working with shame in clinical practice. After her doctoral research uncovered a chronic sense of “not-enoughness,” she has been committed to helping people feel better about themselves and heal the wounds of toxic shame.

Dr. Ashley offers experiential healing retreats in the United States and Europe that help clients excavate the authentic self and heal aspects of a shame-based identity. Combining elements of developmental, cognitive, strength-based, somatic, relational and positive psychology, Dr. Ashley guides clients on a journey of self-discovery that enables them to identify dysfunctional family patterns and utilize somatic techniques to sustain long-term changes in body memory.

Dr. Ashley has over thirty-five years of experience in the fields of education and psychology, including developing continuing education courses for physicians and hospital wellness programs; instructing undergraduate and graduate courses for universities; and counseling individuals, couples and families in mental health agencies, psychiatric hospitals, and private practice settings. Dr. Ashley completed a Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Psychology from the Union Institute and University in 2002.

She is the author of the book Living in the Shadow of the Too-Good Mother Archetype (Wyatt-MacKenzie, 2014.) She has two new books scheduled for release in 2019. Letters to Freedom, a memoir of grief and relationship coming spring of 2019 (Wyatt-MacKenzie Publishing;) and Shame Informed Therapy (SIT,) a workbook for clinicians and Shame in Clinical Practice coming in the fall of 2019 (PESI Publishing).
