Objectives

- 1. Utilize clinical strategies to reduce the frequency, duration and severity of behavioral episodes that challenge therapists, educators, professionals and parents.
- 2. Implement both proactive and reactive strategies for oppositional, defiant and disruptive behavior in children and youth.
- 3. Discriminate between the clinical presentation of behavioral episodes and psychiatric symptoms to inform treatment.
- 4. Communicate how a skilled observation of behavior informs your treatment approach.
- 5. Develop clinical skills for establishing a therapeutic rapport to overcome treatment resistance in children and adolescents.
- 6. Effectively develop a behavior intervention plan and safety plan across all settings including home and school.

You will walk away with immediate strategies for out of control behaviors and techniques for emotional regulation along with long-term treatment strategies to help kids at home and school. Jason Mathison is a clinical expert and has worked with the most challenging kids both in clinical and school settings. Through the use of case studies and action-oriented handouts, you will leave this seminar with solutions to turn your most challenging kids around.

Speaker

Jason Mathison, PsyD, NCSP, ABSNP, is a licensed psychologist and certified school neuropsychologist in Maryland and Virginia who has worked with children and adolescents for over 12 years. He earned his doctorate in school psychology from the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine, where he published with faculty and served as an adjunct professor before graduating. He maintains adjunct appointments at both Loyola University in Baltimore and the Chicago Professional school of psychology. Dr. Mathison is also the owner and director of Psychoeducational Consultants where he provides neuropsychological testing and conducts workshops on brain-behavior relationships for educational staff, mental health professionals and families. Dr. Mathison spends much of his time providing executive functioning coaching for both clients and their families. In addition to multiple publications on executive functioning, he has served on an expert panel at National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) on the teenage brain. Dr. Mathison has served as a school psychologist for Prince George's County Public Schools for 10 years where he works with students and teachers to diagnose and provide interventions to enhance executive functioning and maximize academic success.

Speaker Disclosures

Financial: Jason Mathison maintains a private practice. He is an adjunct professor for The Chicago School of Professional Psychology and Loyola University. Dr. Mathison receives a speaking honorarium from PESI, Inc.
