

Growing Up Anxious

Treating Anxiety Disorders in a Generation
Hyper-focused on Achievement, Technology and Safety

We all want kids to be successful, safe, and secure, but such good intentions are having unintended consequences.

Three societal ingredients.... a hyper-academic mindset, preoccupation with safety, and a tech-obsessed society... are fueling childhood anxiety, leaving kids fearful, avoidant, and ill-equipped for adulthood.

Join child psychologist Steve O'Brien, Psy.D., for 2 days filled with practical strategies as he presents a three-level treatment model for childhood anxiety using targeted, evidenced-based therapies to:

- Connect with and "rewire" anxious children and families
- Provide child-friendly instruction about anxiety and the brain
- Promote self-expression and healthy coping in shut-down kids
- Reduce debilitating social anxiety in adolescents
- Treat technology-related worries, obsessions, and compulsions
- Develop anxiety-free safety plans for distressed kids and parents

Don't miss out on this cutting-edge program for equipping and empowering kids to not only cope with anxiety, but to thrive as they develop a growing sense of both competence and confidence!

Best of all, upon completion of this live training, you'll be eligible for Certification in Child and Adolescent Anxiety through Evergreen Certifications. Certification lets colleagues, employers, and clients know that you've invested the extra time and effort necessary to understand the complexities of child and adolescent anxiety counseling. Meet Your Speaker

Dr. Steve O'Brien, is a clinical psychologist with over 25 years of experience treating children with a variety of anxiety disorders, including Separation Anxiety, Generalized Anxiety and Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder. He specializes in treating children with co-occurring disorders, especially those who struggle with both anxiety and ADHD or Autism. Dr. O'Brien's expertise also includes treatments for childhood depression, oppositional behavior, and divorced/blended family adjustment.

Dr. O'Brien utilizes an eclectic approach which tailors treatment to the developmental level of both children and parents. His approach integrates individual child therapy with intensive parental and familial interventions. Dr. O'Brien has worked in a variety of clinical settings including community mental health centers, psychiatric hospitals and medical clinics. He earned his Psy.D. at Nova Southeastern University and received specialized training in applied developmental psychology. Dr. O'Brien incorporates pediatric and child psychiatric consultation into his therapeutic work. He served as associate professor at the Florida School of Professional Psychology at Argosy University from 2000 to 2016. While at the University, Dr. O'Brien developed a unique doctoral level course, 'Parent Consultation', designed for graduate students specializing in child/family therapy. 'In 2015, he developed Life@ Home by Psychtouch.com, an innovative clinical tool/app for obtaining a child's perception of family life. Dr. O'Brien also serves as a media consultant for Bay News 9, Tampa Bay's 24-hour news source.

Disclosures:

Financial: Steve O'Brien is in private practice. He receives a speaking honorarium from PESI, Inc. Non-financial: Steve O'Brien is a member of the American Psychological Association; and the Florida Psychological Association.
